They were informed about the list of emergency and non-emergency helpline numbers, including those for immediate assistance and reporting non-urgent incidents. This segment helped the girls understand when and how to use each number effectively.

The National Cadet Corps in the school plays a vital role in shaping the character of students by infusing the values of discipline, service, hard work, and above all patriotism. Nation comes above all and the flame of respect and readiness for scarification ignites only in the learning phrase of a student. Keeping this in the view, JP International School organized an NCC Selection Enrollment drive on 20 July 23 in the school premises. This selection criteria gives the opportunity to all the deserving students to get themselves enrolled as NCC Cadets, from school. In this procedure, from classes XI, around 55 students applied whereas the vacancies were only 30.

The selection process was based on the physical test and the questionnaire round went on under the guidance of Mr. Jorjinder Singh Sir and Mr. Naresh Sir. The selection procedure started when the school Principal, Coordinator, NCC 40 UP BN NCC Sikandrabad JCO, and the Physical Education department flagged off the long march from the school.

EXPERIENCE AFTER 2 YEARS OF LOCKDOWN

'Life is gradually returning to its pre-pandemic rhythm, which is a testament to our resilience'

Around early 2020, the Covid-19 pandemic took root in India, leading to an abrupt closure of my school. None of us anticipated that offline classes would remain suspended for nearly two years. Parent-teacher meetings and results were replaced by digital report cards sent to our phones.

In April 2020, Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced a 21-day nationwide lockdown. From then on, the country endured a series of lockdowns with intermittent respite. We found ourselves confined within our homes, marking time as the clock's hands steadily moved. Then came the headline that lifted my spirits to cloud nine - 'schools to reopen nationwide from April 2022.'

This was a moment of immense joy for me and many other students. The lockdown had seemingly rendered two years of our lives unproductive. Personally, it felt like being under house arrest, unable to step out even for minor errands. As schools and public spaces cautiously reopened under strict protocols, there was a glimmer of hope that the Covid-19 pandemic was finally under control. The first day at school post-pandemic was a comical sight. Students barely interacted, their identities concealed behind masks, making recognition a challenge. It sounds amusing, but it was our reality. Coupled with this, the lockdown had eroded some of our basic social communication skills. However, with time, we are gradually readjusting to a semblance of normalcy.

People are reclaiming their lives, venturing out for work and leisure with a newfound sense of safety. The lockdown undeniably left a profound mark on our lives, but we press forward, leaving the past behind. Workplaces are abuzz, schools resonate with laughter, and families revel in shared outings. Life is returning to its pre-pandemic rhythm. It's a testament to our resilience—no situation should compel us to surrender, but rather to confront it with a smile.
